

ECONOMIC MONITOR

Why should I use the app?

Economic Monitor gives you comprehensive, real-time economic data coverage to help you see what is affecting the markets and impacting your trading and investment day.

Key facts

- This is a streaming, real-time economic calendar, which is fully customizable; the app allows you to choose the types of economic data you want to see and the font size you wish to view it in
- Scroll forwards or backwards to see future or past events, and hit "Go to now" to return to what's happening now
- Before a number is released, gauge expectations by analyzing the Reuters Poll results, and click through to the poll details to see who is currently ranked best forecaster for the indicator you are viewing
- As the time nears for the indicator to be released, a traffic light countdown timer will appear on screen (green at five minutes, amber at two minutes, red at 10 seconds) so that you are fully focused on the event taking place
- Economic surprises can be quickly interpreted thanks to the Shockwave icons that appear when releases fail to meet expectations (i.e., they come out higher or lower than the minimum or maximum forecast). That means you can quickly see events which are likely to move markets
- Find any indicator you need using the inbuilt intelligent search feature
- Access a growing diary of central bank and political events
- Access market holidays for exchanges, including foreign exchanges
- Know when ratings agencies such as Fitch, S&P and Moody's will be issuing their next sovereign ratings announcements
- Filter the data to view the countries you are interested in
- Real-time economic data can be downloaded to Microsoft Excel®
